ADDISON, IL, JULY 14, 2014 – Associated has been selected to host Loyola's Supply chain Leadership Conference on August 6, 2014. This is the first year for this one-of-a-kind event that will bring together supply chain experts and professionals from a wide array of backgrounds and industries to discuss today's hot supply chain topics. With a broad array of educational sessions, product demonstrations, solution applications and peer-to-peer networking opportunities this is an event designed for every supply chain leader.

“We are very excited about this opportunity to work with The Supply and Value Chain Center of the Quinlan School of Business of Loyola University Chicago. We fully support and appreciate their goal to create a common platform where industry leaders and academics can exchange ideas and knowledge in the area of supply chain”, said Mike Romano, President/CEO of Associated and Peach State Integrated Technologies.

“It is imperative for the academic community to have partners in Supply Chain like Associated that will enable us to continue to support the growing needs of the Chicago business community and beyond in the development of leading-edge strategies and real world solutions to problems relative to the management of the end-to-end supply chain.
